

ARCHEOLOGY

Joel C. Janetski

Provo, UT

Occupation/Title:

Professor and Chair

Department of Anthropology

Where Employed: Brigham Young University

Education:

1983 Ph.D., Anthropology, University of Utah, Salt Lake City, Utah. Dissertation title:
Western Ute of Utah Valley: An Ethnohistoric Model of Lakeside Adaptation

1977 M.A., Anthropology, University of Utah, Salt Lake City, Utah. Thesis on early Samoan shell middens.

Areas of Expertise:

Hunter-gatherer studies

Subsistence, social organization, and economics in small scale societies

Faunal studies

Ethnohistory; Great Basin, American Southwest, Northern Plains, Near East

Relevant Publications:

2002 Indians in Yellowstone, revised edition, University of Utah Press, Salt Lake City.

2002 Trade in Fremont Society: Contexts and Contrasts, Journal of Anthropological Archaeology 21(3):344-370.

1999 Cooperative Research between Native Americans and Archaeologists: The Fish Lake Archaeological Project. In Current Models in Great Basin Anthropology, edited by C. Beck, pp. 223-237. University of Utah Press. (With Ganaver Timican, Douglas Timican, Rena Pikyavit, and Rick Pikyavit).

1998 Learning to Preserve and Preserving to Learn: A Case Study in Grand Staircase-Escalante National Monument Archaeological Research. In Grand Staircase-Escalante National Monument Science Symposium Proceedings 1997, edited by L. Hill, pp. 65-74. Bureau of Land Management, Salt Lake City. (with Richard K. Talbot).

1997 150 Years of Utah Archaeology. Utah Historical Quarterly 65(2):100-133.

Awards:

2003 Wesley P. Lloyd award for excellence in graduate education at BYU.

1991 Dale L. Morgan award for the best scholarly article to appear in the Utah Historical Quarterly in 1990. Article winning the award was "Utah Lake: Its Role in the History of Utah Valley."